DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1, 3-22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Hainberger (U.S. Patent Application Publication No. 2004/0004756).

Regarding claims 1, 5, 8, 11, 14-22, Hainberger teaches a method for transmitting an optical signal comprising: receiving a transmitted optical signal as a received signal, the received signal being transmitted over a first optical fiber path separating the received signal to produce a plurality of bands (reference letters L, C, and S in Figure 2C), each separated band comprising optical signals of different wavelength (Figure 4); and adjusting the total power of each band to make the total power of each band substantially equal with each other (Figure 5), and adjusting the power of optical signals in each band to compensate for level variance in the band (Figure 5).

Regarding claims 3, 6, 9, 12, Hainberger teaches combining the adjusted bands to produce a transmission signal, and transmitting the transmission signal along a second optical fiber path (Figure 2C).

Regarding claims 4, 7, 10, 13, 16, Hainberger teaches separating each of the bands to produce a plurality of second bands (as seen in Figure 8).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hainberger.

Regarding claim 2, Hainberger teaches that the level variance among the wavelengths in a band is a tilt of optical signal power (Figure 4) and the step of adjusting the power of the optical signals includes making the power of the optical signals even among the wavelength in the band (Figure 5), but differs from the claimed invention in that Hainberger fails to specifically teach that the power of a shorter wavelength signal is greater than that of a longer wavelength signal. However, this type of tilt is common and well known in the art of multi-wavelength band communication systems. Clearly, the system of Hainberger could have compensated for either type of tilt. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one skilled in the art at the time the invention was made to compensate for shorter to longer tilt as claimed by the system of Hainberger.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-22 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

6. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
